

David L. Hudson, Jr. is a law professor at Belmont University College of Law where he teaches classes in Legal Writing and Constitutional Law. He is a First Amendment expert who serves as a Fellow for the First Amendment of the Freedom Forum Institute.

He is the author, co-author, or co-editor of more than 40 books, including The Rehnquist Court: Understanding its impact and Legacy (Praeger , 2006), The First Amendment: Freedom of Speech (Thomson Reuters, 2012), Let the Students Speak: A History of the Fight for Freedom of Expression in American Schools (Beacon Press, 2011), and The Encyclopedia of the First Amendment (Sage, 2008)(co-editor). In addition, he writes regularly for the ABA Journal and other publications.

Professor Hudson teaches bar exam preparation at the Nashville School of Law and tutors people for bar exam success. He earned his undergraduate degree from Duke University and his law degree from Vanderbilt University School of Law. Professor Hudson also is a licensed boxing and mixed martial arts judge. He has judged more than a dozen world title bouts.